Many thanks to Collier Community Foundation

NAPLES, FL – Oct. 17, 2022 – While Naples Botanical Garden was significantly impacted by Hurricane Ian, the Garden will be fine with a reopening announcement coming soon. This is a result of the resiliency and remarkable cleanup efforts of our staff, volunteers, and community. We have been able to take on these recovery efforts so quickly because of the early support for those members of our team and their families with the most urgent needs.

The Garden would like to formally thank the Collier Community Foundation for its generosity and support of our staff following Hurricane Ian. Through the Collier Comes Together Fund, Collier Community Foundation has apportioned funded housing for displaced staff members. This housing has afforded them the ability to begin the important work of personal recovery and healing.
